

ROYAL RANGERS

— I N T E R N A T I O N A L —

July 2002

Dear friends,

Following God is a great adventure!

When we were kids, Kerry and I told God we would follow Him wherever He led. Eight years ago, we went to Costa Rica in obedience to His voice. Our assignment was to minister to men & boys all over Latin America. God has been faithful!

To no credit of our own, but to the One who called us, our ministry in Latin America has become a model to the rest of the world. For that reason, the World Missions leadership of our fellowship has asked us to move back to Springfield and serve from this location for a time.

Our assignment will be to help establish a global framework that will strengthen or establish Royal Rangers in each of the six regions of the world. This is no small task, and we need your support now more than ever.

Our address is in America, but our assignment is the world. We are still foreign missionaries, we are still leading Royal Rangers in Latin America, and we are still developing Camp Summit. Our responsibilities have not changed, but enlarged! For that reason, we are counting on your steadfast partnership.

I must admit, this move was not easy. It was a much more difficult decision to leave Costa Rica than it was to go there in the first place. I was born and raised on the foreign field, and our two children were born in Costa Rica. But Kerry and I told God we would follow Him wherever He led. We never imagined He would ask us to come back to the United States for global ministry.

God has enlarged our vision to encompass men & boys all around the world. When we went to Latin America in 1994, Kerry and I never dreamed Royal Rangers would explode from 12,000 to over 45,000, or that today we would have Camp Summit. And because of the outstanding leaders God raised up, we can leave the region knowing His work will continue to prosper.

We embark on this new chapter of ministry with confidence. We envision a global army of boys, men-in-training, being prepared to ably lead the families, congregations and nations of tomorrow. These boys do not look to imposters like terrorists and dictators as their model of manhood, but to Jesus Christ.

Why the confidence? Because God has made us partners with you. For years you have stood with us in every adventure into which the Lord has led us. We know God is leading us and we know you will stand with us in prayer and finance as we launch into worldwide ministry.

Let's "Determine the Destiny of Nations!"
